

Caution dangerous!

So-called dietary supplements are not what they claim to be and what many people believe.

These agents are pure chemistry and damage our organs and cells considerably!

Vitamins are volatile and therefore cannot be preserved.

For this reason, chemical replicas of vitamins are used in all these agents. But nature cannot be reproduced, so these remedies only mimic, so to speak, the vitamin shell of a natural vitamin.

But there is another crucial factor: Our cell metabolism can only process natural vitamins in conjunction with the secondary plant substances. That means only with the consumption of plants, vegetables, fruit.

These supplements make you SICK!
